

WALTHER FLEMMING AWARD
(früher: Walther Flemming Medal)

Preisträger:

- 2004 Dr. Jan Ellenberg (Heidelberg, Germany):
Functional dynamics of nuclear structure during cell cycle
- 2005 Dr. Anne Spang (Tübingen, Germany):
Intracellular protein and membrane transport in yeast
- 2006 Dr. Olaf Stemmann (Martinsried, Germany):
Sister chromatid separation in vertebrates: Lessons from biochemical studies on cell-free extracts
- 2007 Dr. Thomas U. Mayer (Martinsried, Germany):
XErp1, a novel APC/C inhibitor that puts the meiotic cell cycle on hold
- 2008 Dr. Thorsten Hoppe (Hamburg, Germany):
Protein degradation in muscle development
- 2009 Dr. Holger Gerhardt (London, UK):
Angiogenesis – a team effort coordinated by Notch
- 2010 Dr. Florian Bassermann (München, Germany):
The role of SCF and APC/C ubiquitin ligases in cell cycle control and DNA damage response
- 2011 Dr. Patrick Meraldi (Zürich, Switzerland):
The metaphase plate – still full of surprises
- 2012 Dr. Martin Beck (Heidelberg, Germany):
Compositional remodeling of the human nuclear pore complex
- 2013 Dr. Aurelio Teleman (Heidelberg, Germany):
Regulation of cell proliferation by PI3K
- 2014 Dr. Thomas Wollert (Martinsried, Germany):
Molecular mechanism of autophagic scaffold assembly and disassembly
- 2015 Katrin Paeschke (Würzburg, Germany):
Consequences of G-quadruplex structures for eukaryotic cells
- 2016 Brian Luke (Mainz, Germany)
