

WALTHER FLEMMING AWARD 2018

The German Society for Cell Biology offers a research award named after Walther Flemming, one of the pioneers of cell biological research. In 1875 he provided us with a detailed description of processes during cell division, which he named mitosis.

The Walther Flemming Award is awarded annually for outstanding scientific merits from all fields of cell biological research. Eligible are researchers up to an age of 38 years. The award consists of a prize money of EUR 2000 and is sponsored by the European Journal of Cell Biology.

Applications have to consist of a cover letter, a CV and a list of publications. The subject of the application should relate to one distinct field of research. In addition, a short summary of the work and a compelling description of the importance of the work for cell biology should be presented.

Both individual applications and nominations are accepted. Applications will be reviewed by an independent commission of the DGZ. The award ceremony takes place at the DGZ International Meeting which will be held on September 17-19, 2018 in Leipzig.

Please send your application by e-mail (and in parallel one hard copy by mail) to the DGZ office:
